This called up Mr. BOUTWELL (Un., Mass.) who sked him what authority he had for that assertion?

Mr. Harrington replied he judged such to be the case from the fact that Massachusetts had agents indican ceruiting negroes to fill up the quota of their State. Indicans would have nothing to do with negroes. She sent white men into the field.

Mr. Rotriwell observed that Massachuseits had less to fear from Secsision than any other State, because of her isolation, and having two-thirds of the maritime power of the centinent. body.

Mr. Broomall (Un., Pa.) offered an amendment to the pending resolution, declaring Alexander Long to be an unworthy member of the House, and that the Speaker read this resolution to the said Long during the session of the House.

Mr. Eldringer raised the point of order that Mr. Long's speech was made in Committee of the Whole on the State of the Union. No exceptions having been taken in the Committee the proposition could not, under the rules, be entertained in the House.

The Speaker overruled the peint of order, on the ground that it was proposed in the amendment who to censure Mr. Long for words speken in debate, but for the publication of his speech in Washington and New-York, this giving evidence of his disjoysity and ald and comfort to the eneny.

Mr. Eldringer appealed from the decision.

Mr. HOMMAN also raised a point of order that Mr. Broomall's substitute was not german to the original proposition.

Recomall's substitute was not german to the original proposition.

These questions were reserved for future action.

Mr. Broomall, said he offered his resolution of censure because from what had already taken place, they could not obtain the requisite constitutional two thirds to expel the member. As he could not be gratified in baving him expelled, he mast be content to get the resolution of ceheure. The Democratic party had drived to the position of Mr. Long of Ohio and Mr. Harris of Maryland. They had been so used to running in the Democratic learness on the Democratic track that all the Republican side could urge failed to switch them off. In "Loyaline," Mrs. Wood finds some advantages which her other extravaganzas have not afforded her. She has, for example, a wide range of captivating costume, beginning with the amplitudinous radi- Medical Director of the General Hospital, Benton Barracks ance of the city belle, and ending with the compact and glittering finery of the brigadier-general. It is impossible to recall the bonnet of the first dress, or the buttons of the last, without emotion. It is hardly necessary to speak of the opportunities which "Loyalina" affords Mrs. Wood for exercising her merry influences upon the audience, since in all cases where such opportunities are few, he creates new ones, and bestows them with reckless profusion. She knows all that the stage can teach, in the way of nimbly and sweetly recommending herself unto our gentle senses. Her performance of the part of Loyalina is a new and

She has a comic effect of pronunciation, of which she is probably unconscious-that of conferring a superfluous syllable upon every word of importance that she utters. Weller, jr., is perien spoken of as doing the same thing in parts of his famous song, "Dick Turpin." It is also a favorite is so Why practice with Bowery melo-tragedians. Mrs. Sedey Brown acted the little part of the Fairy sufficiently well, excepting the assumption of the aged voice, which might be much improved. Mr. Davidge, Mrs. G. One fault of "Loyalina" is that the music is not sparkling enough. The melodies are generally of e most quiet character. An extravaganza should be brimming with musical vivacity, and the popular ear should not be too much burdened with paraphrases of pigintive ballads. But songs can easily be changed, and alterations in this respect will doubtless he made. The costumes and scenery, and the general mission secure of " Loyalina" are excellent. CARO Ill. Tuesday, April 12, 1864. The steamer Pauline, Carroll, from New-Orcans the 5th, has arrived, with Gen. McPherson and

Staff among her passengers.

The steamship George Washington, from New-York, crived at New Orleans on the 4th inst. with $80,000 in The United States transport Continental, from Portland, arrived the same day. A large cotton laden schooner grounded near Va asco, and was burned after part of her cargo had been thrown over to lighten her. The transport St. Marye, from Braxes Santiago, had also arrived.

The Union cavalry, 4,000 strong, occupied Engle Pass is 400 miles above Brownsville, and has been a great Rebel highway for running cotton and other artieles into Mexico. It was determined that the treops should permanently occupy the place.

Corpus Christi had been reoccupied by our forces and they had captured 800 prisoners. The old residents and nearly all left the place previous to its reoccupation. Eight hundred California cavalry had arrived overland and joined the Union forces. Refugees from Rebel conscription were flocking into or lines by hundreds daily. Immense quantities of cotton had been secured by

The 1st Texas Cavalry, 1,100 strong, were cooperating with our forces. Corn and cotton planting had commenced in Louis ana. There had been several frosts in the country. ..

LATER FROM MEXICO.

The French Marching on Matamoros-A Fight and Victory for the French-A Call by Cortina to Resist the Invaders. CAIRO, Tuesday, April 12, 1864. By the arrival of the steamer Pauline, Caroll, from New-Orleans the 5th, we have the following:

ontenan, showing that he had always alwocated force to put down Rebedion, and that on every coil of Mr. Gennent. (Un., Iowa) referred to the Demoratic party as the sick man of 1894. It was too far gene for any medicine yet discovered to cure it. He protested against Mr. Winfields turning over Fernando Wood to the Republicans. They had done nothing to facility to the Republicans. They had done nothing to facility to the Republicans. They had done nothing to facility to the Republicans. They had done nothing to facility to the Republicans. They had done nothing to softward that his colleague did not asy solderes, but it is begin indiction. The gentleman from Massachusetts had no stomeone for the fight, and next the people; and, in the third place, her representatives on this foor.

Mr. Holman remarked that the Western soldiers of Massachusetts have no stomesh for the fight, and next the people; and, in the third place, her representatives on this foor.

Mr. Gilnnell, repelled the base slenders on New Rengland, and remarked that the Western soldiers think the soldiers from that section fight as well as any other. He referred to the action of the House in 1842, when Joshua R. Gilddings was consured for offering resolutions declaring the slaves of the creek had a right to rise and assert their native irredom.

The Democratic voted in a sold body for it, and he reproduced the case as a Democratic precedent in regard to an Abolitonist. We do not hear so much of the safe as a Repulsion of the crack of the slave-driver's whip as we did four years. The gentleman from Maryland (Harris) said be was withing to take all the size of Sinvery. Every one of the safe said repreduced the case of the repulsion where the special continued to the other words and times. Let the country be divided—the South good (remarked M. Grinnell) rather say a though dremarked M. Grinnell) rather say a though dremarked that the seed of sinvery. Every one of the safe said the same of Sinvery. Every one of the safe said the same of Sinvery. Every one
